THE WORKER LOOKS TO HIS RIGHTS

(BY JOHN C. SATTERFIELD)

It's really the little guy who comes out on the short end of the administration's civil rights bill. Washington observers are beginning to notice a reaction from workers who believe that their job security is in danger. The typical man wants to be hired and he wants to be paid. Yet this bill threatens some startling proposals. The ultimate power of hiring and firing is put into the hands of federal inspectors. Moreover, under the civil rights bill, the federal inspector has no official interest in how well a man is doing his job, or how long he's been doing it. It doesn't matter whether a man has been trying to mind his own business and get his job done. At the whim of a federal inspector, he may be fired. The government will have authority to deny him promotions. His seniority rights will be jeopardized. His union contract may be set aside. And his apprenticeship program may be ignored. The only thing that matters under the civil rights bill is the past and present hiring practices of his employer. Any kind of discrimination, or any practice which intentionally has the effect of "discrimination" must be eliminated by a tight job market, this means that a federal inspector must step in and order job holders to relinquish their positions to those who have been "discriminated" against. The civil rights bill gives broad powers to the federal inspector to enforce his decrees. If an employer pleads poverty for the interests of his present employees, then any federal contracts could be cut off. The employer's grievances could be eliminated by eliminating the employer. There are other weapons in the arsenal, as well. Almost every business these days is dependent on firms that are receiving federal benefits. Any kind of assistance, of course, could be cut off. Banks that are part of the federal reserve system, or that have federal deposits insured by FDIC, could be required to meet the new federal standards. The federal government is the federal government.

TRAIN HALT ORDERED POSTPONED

WASHINGTON - The Louisville & Nashville Railroad's plan to discontinue its passenger commuter train between Pass Christian and New Orleans early next month has been delayed for at least four months by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The federal regulatory agency of the rail line's proposal, an order which requires that it continue to operate those trains despite the fact that it may be losing substantial amounts of money, pending a final decision on the case.

L&N's proposal to drop the commuter trains No. 9 and No. 12, was received here Dec. 2 by the ICC whereupon it was assigned a case number (Finance Docket 22880) and moved into the administrative channels, first with a section of the ICC to decide whether such a case warrants investigation by ICC or outright approval by taking no action.

Thursday's order now turns the case over to one of three finance boards - all of which make up the agency's Division III, or finance division.

As a part of the ICC's investigation, public hearings will be scheduled to be held anywhere from one to three days and probably in New Orleans. Announcement of the dates for the hearings will come in the next few days.

NASA News..

GAINESVILLE, Miss. - At the beginning of a new calendar year, work at NASA's Mississippi Test Operations, a division of the Marshall Space Flight Center, continues to center around massive earth-moving projects, as the construction program moves toward peak activity.

At the end of 1963, construction personnel had dropped to 248 from a high of more than 600. However, a fast build-up is expected to start soon which will peak next summer at about 3,000 workers. In addition to construction personnel at MTO, there are more than 200 personnel attached to NASA, General Electric, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and others.

Since the first tree felled at the site in mid-May 1963, more than 1,200 acres have been cleared in the test area and almost 3 million cubic yards of earth have been excavated on the various projects.

At the close of 1963, the Army Corps of Engineers, Mobile District construction agents for MTO, had awarded contracts in excess of $22 million for permanent construction projects here. These contracts included the first completed project at the site - a 10.5 mile railroad track from Nicholson, to MTO, built at no cost to the government by the Southern Railway System. The construction which was to take 52 days was completed in May, 22 days ahead of schedule. Also completed during the year was installation of a 16-mile perimeter fence around the fee area by Tanner Heavy Equipment Co., Gainesville, Miss. - dredging of the 38-acre harbor by T. L. James & Co., Inc., Ruston, La., and excavation for the lock and bascule bridge by the American Dewatering Corp., Rockaway, N. J.

The largest contract during the year was awarded to the joint venture of C. H. Leavell and Company and Peter Kiewit Sons' Company, for construction of the first S-II test stand. The contract was for more than $13 million.

History was made at MTO in October when a Project Stabilization Agreement was ratified by labor-management representatives. The agreement is aimed at insuring harmonious labor-management relations during a three-year construction period at the site. The agreement was drawn up by representatives of labor unions, contractor organizations, NASA, and the President's Missile Sites Labor Commission. This is the first time such an agreement has been reached prior to start of a major government construction project.

A highlight of the MTO year was a visit to the site by Dr. Werner von Braun on September 22. In November, MTO was visited by E. P. M. Rees, Harry Gorman, Robert Young, Karl L. Heimbach, Hans Hueter and other leaders from MSFC.

William C. Fortune, manager of MTO, in reflecting on the changes here during 1963, said, while we saw much progress at MTO during the past year, most of it was in the nature of digging big holes. Now, in 1964, we are going to start filling in those holes with test stands and buildings. This will really change the face of Hancock County - moving toward that date in 1965 when Mississippi Test Operations becomes an operational facility.

Police Reports

We took pictures of snow scenes but due to circumstances beyond our control were not able to get our plates in time for this issue. We will have a few scenes next week.

Thanks for understanding.

Residents of Bay St. Louis and the entire Gulf Coast awoke on Tuesday morning to see the beginning of what later proved to be an all-time record.

This was all that was needed to write history to what has already been a most eventful year, 1963, because it was New Year's Eve.

For the younger generation this was a treat in that it was the most snow any of them had ever seen. For a few of the older folks they racked their brains trying to remember something as near as possible to this, but to no avail because this was a record to break all records for this area.

The snow began falling as early as 5 a. m. and kept up continuously until nearly 7 p. m. before a let-up was noted.

Snow men and snowball fights were to be seen everywhere and as well as young folks enjoying the frolic.

This office was swamped with calls from residents telling of huge snowmen and odd formations, saying they would make beautiful pictures, but to try to accommodate them all would have been impossible, so most people hauled out their cameras of all kinds and photographed the gorgeous spectacle.

In outlying sections of Hancock County, around Logtown, Pearlinton, Kila and other places as much as twelve to fourteen inches was reported, with drifts piling up from two to four feet deep in places.

On the more serious side, the unexpected snowfall brought some serious traffic problems, as snow and slush began to clog traffic arteries.

Inspector Marion E. Fulk of the Mississippi Highway Patrol's District Eight, said, "Only traffic that is absolutely necessary should be on any highways" and then to exercise extreme caution, courtesy and common sense."

Keeler Air Force Base at Biloxi reported some curtailment of flight training activity due to the weather. Southern Airways at Gulfport said no flights had been canceled but said icing conditions might present some problems.

The Federal Aviation Agency control tower at Gulfport reported only aircraft equipped for instrument flight were operating.

This very scarcity of snow in the area seemed to help the safety problem today as motorists, dealing with an unknown, appeared to operate cautiously in most cases. Safety officials, fearing relaxation of caution, urged motorists to pay particular attention to keeping the windshields of vehicles clear. One official said motorists should be careful of "visibility" and speed. You cannot rely on your brakes."

THROUGHOUT THE STATE

The second biggest snow of a topsy-turvy winter spread its thickest blanket over the southern half of Mississippi on Tuesday. Snow ranged up to an amazing 14 inches deep at Meridian. And there was plenty of it around the palms along the Gulf Coast.

During the night, many wet highways became sheets of ice, the most dangerous kind of driving surface.

The highway patrol cleared off as much traffic as it could. Along the eastern border areas it was easy because the Alabama highway patrol blocked most roads as too hazardous for travel.

Most of the Delta area escaped the snowfall but the snow belts elsewhere drifted pretty deep.

The Starkville, West Point and other areas reported about six inches. Laurel had 10 inches. Hattiesburg had about eight inches in the city itself with heavier falls just to the south.

HIGHWAY PATROL

In snow districts the highway patrol hustled well into the night getting roads cleared of stranded vehicles.

At Hattiesburg the patrol hustled about 240 cars were stranded and stranded in its district during the day as the snow mounted.

Snow swept nearly all of Mississippi's southern half in the southern half it hit a north-south strip roughly halfway down where the eastern side.

Marilyn Garcia, Beverly and Janet Williams, Jessie Williams and Mrs. Gladys Johnson made up this party which turned out to be really fun, although they had to admit they did become a little tired.

ROADWAY CONTRACTS REACH ALL-TIME HIGH IN 1963

The State Highway Commission awarded an all-time record in construction contracts during 1963. John D. Smith, commissioner for the Southern District, said contracts for the year totaled $56,986,207.87, of which 60 percent or approximately $34 million was for work on Interstate Highways, which comprise only seven percent of the 9500-mile state system. Primary contracts totaled $11.8 million; secondary $7.1 million; and urban $1.9 million. The remainder was made up of state and federal highway projects.

In addition to these awards by the Highway Commission, the State Aid Division contracted approximately $19 million through boards of supervisors for work on the state aid system.

Thus, the combined total of state and federal funds put to contract for Mississippi Roads amounted to more than $75 million in 1963. Commissioner Smith said the big increase resulted from a release of federal funds which had been withheld due to contract controls. A substantial part of this money was for work on the Interstate System.

1964 OUTLOOK
The prospect for the next twelve months is for an amount of work "at least as large, possibly larger,"

COMPLETIONS LAST YEAR

Along with the unprecedented amount of contracts awarded in 1963, the Highway Commission completed significant part of roads in all parts of the state. A year-end, 1974 miles of interstate highways were in use with another 215 miles under contract.

During the year, several new links were placed into service including 120, Meridian to the Alabama line; 155, Jackson to Canton; 120, Vicksburg to Bismarck; 155, Batesville to Oakland. Additional projects are nearing completion at this time.

"We are well within the schedule for completing these highways," Mr. Smith said. The target date throughout the nation is 1964.

REVENUES LAST YEAR
The Highway Department derives all of its state revenue from a share of the state gasoline tax. This tax has remained constant at 7¢ per gallon since 1950 when the state aid program was adopted. Revenues from the tax are divided among the state Highway Department, the counties, municipalities and others.

"We have warned for several years that these revenues are not adequate to support the highway system assigned to the State Highway Department. Two years ago, the Legislature authorized an exhaustive study which further pointed up the problem. It recommended $21 million a year additional revenue for the next twenty years, unless the state mileage is reduced."

Much of the present-day primary system was built in the late 1930's, and since that time traffic has increased several fold. These highways need renovation not possible with existing revenues. In addition, almost 2,000 miles of designated secondary roads are still gravel and at the present rate, it will take 25 years to finance their construction, he said.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

All is not lost with one failure. As any bowler knows, it's worthwhile to achieve a goal on the second try.

The Church was not founded for people who are perfect. It is for men and women who would strive, despite their shortcomings, to meet life's moral and spiritual challenge.

Someone has called Christianity the religion of another chance. Jesus, after all, placed greatest emphasis on God's forgiving love. And He urged men to grasp present opportunities despite past failures.

Earnest Christians today are still discovering in thrilling ways what man, inspired and strengthened by God, can really accomplish.

And some of those whose lives have been enriched with faith and courage once wondered — as perhaps you are wondering — whether to give religion another try.

Holzhauser-Maloney Wedding

Miss Catherine Anita Maloney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Maloney of Denver, Colorado, became the bride of Thomas Holzhauser, son of Mr. Roland Holzhauser and the late Mr. Holzhauser of Bay St. Louis, at a Nuptial Mass at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James J. Hannon performed the double ring ceremony.

Arrangements of poinsettia decorated the altar and professor Joseph Hemmelsbach, organist, played the processional and recessional and a program of music during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her godfather, Alvin Ladner of Waveland, the bride wore a white wool suit, trimmed with a fur collar, and grey accessories. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink sweetheart roses.

Miss Margaret Pulizzano, her only attendant, wore a blue suit, matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

John Thomas of Mandeville was his nephew's best man, and J. L. Gonzales and Al Ladner served as ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Parish Hall.

The bride's table, covered with a white lace cloth, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Assisting in receiving were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Sidney Gonzales, who chose a blue silk dress and matching accessories for the occasion, and the mother of the groom, who wore a black dress. They wore corsages of white carnations.

After the bride and groom cut the first slice of cake, it was cut and served by Mrs. Roland Lafontaine, and the bride's aunt, Mrs. Henry Favre, presided at the punch table.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Holzhauser will make their home in Bay St. Louis.

The bride is a graduate of Cathedral High School, Denver, and the groom attended Bay St. Louis High School. He is presently employed at Industrial Emulating Division of Industrial Electric, Inc.
